Where could those guys have gotten off to so fast... Nobody has seen them anywhere!

Have you seen a few guys around here lately? They've gone missing...

Nope, sorry I haven't seen anyone. To be honest I've been asleep almost since I got here but I will keep an eye out.

As the lifeguard took off, Trish stretched realizing she had probably laid on the beach a little longer than she had planned. Shifting to her side she stretched and oriented herself to see how long she had been asleep.

Whew it really is a hot one today, I guess I should at least roll once. I don't want my legs to burn...

... and I guess nobody is around either. Its such a nice day and this top has been squeezing on me all day.

*Holy
smokes! It just burst off her, I gotta get out of the way!*

That feels much better! The breeze feels so good on my bare skin.

It's against the rules of the beach to go topless... but those guys aren't around...

*... So nobody around to stare or complain.
No consequences at all...*
