

Shrink Skin Gladiator History (Under Development)

The game is based on Body Exploration MicroMan, and Unaware Giantess...

The project started in 10 Deczember for 2023...

Being produced by a single person....

The link for first image:

<https://www.deviantart.com/darkarth-trevor/art/Shrink-Gladiator-RPG-MAKER-New-Project-Gamer-1000941488>

There is currently a DEMO version available to test and add improvements:

<https://shrink-dev.itch.io/shrinkskingladiator>

Mosquito

There is a diversity of Micro Organisms on the clothes, skin and inside the girl... I need fight them so that at least I can feed on their remains...

Image for first Map ...

The game is based in the adventure of an anthropomorphic cell measuring 0.5 MM, with powers of elasticity, body manipulation and absorption of molecules...

The protagonist's first mission is to save the organism of a nanotechnology university girl...

After she accidentally broke a containment capsule containing self-aware anthropomorphic cells made with nanotechnology...

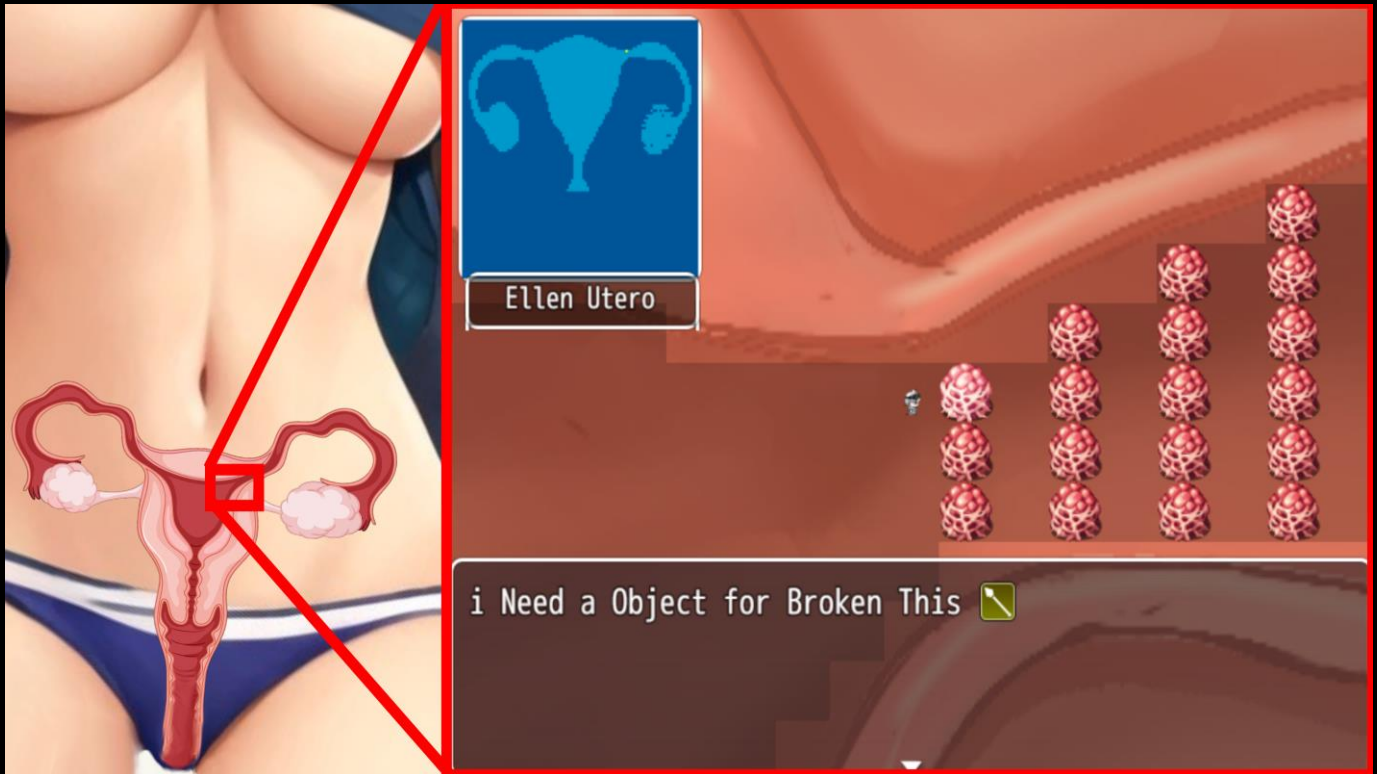

By accidentally dropping one of the capsules on a chair and sitting on it...

Ellen released dozens of micro mutant cells...

For what made them enter your body...

Initially through the Vagina and then the uterus...

According to the initial plan of the mutant cell leaders, they created clones of themselves and created objects using fragments of fabric from Ellen's clothes and molecular residues from her body...

Mutant cells consist of being extremely fast, causing them to live in accelerated time....

Unlike these mutant cells, the protagonist developed an ideal to protect humanity, based on the fact that it was created by human cells through nanotechnology....

protect humanity even at the cost of destroying other forms of life...

When Ellen got up, she didn't realize she was infected....

However, when other students arrived at the laboratory, they saw the broken capsule on a chair...

The chief scientist was immediately notified...

Who then summoned the help of "0021" our protagonist...

Based on several experiments psychological he was a mutant cell with the ability to protect his host's body and destroy invaders....

COMI SOON