

CRANEFATHERED ~ MARSH DRAKE ~

"Aye, she took me leg with one swing of her tail... but her beak made for a mighty fine cane, don't ya think?"

1. {Feathered Scales} Entire body is covered in shimmering crane-like feathers that are as hard as drake scales despite their surprisingly light weight.
2. {Shiny Hoarders} Drawn to shiny things like silver, recently polished armor, and fishing lures which it uses to decorate its nests and lair.
3. {Flightless} Its powerful legs and ability to glide short distances allows these drakes to traverse their marshy environments with frightening speed.
4. {Piercers} In addition to using its long neck and beak-like jaw to attack prey from a afar, these drakes are also known for piercing prey through logs or other jagged objects to devour later or leave as a territorial trophy.
5. {Cutting Tail} Can swing its long, serrated tail feathers in huge arcs to cut down prey or drive back attacking creatures {can easily sever entire limbs in one swipe}.
6. {Dragon Kin} Despite its bird-heavy features, the Cranefathered Drake is often just as cunning and intelligent as its ancient dragon ancestors.
