

STAR SEED - METEOR CRATER

MAP DESCRIPTIONS

A FALLING STAR

A burst of light brighter than a thousand stars illuminates the sky as a meteor streaks overhead. Its blazing tail leaves a fiery trail as it hurtles towards the earth. As the meteor dips below the horizon an explosion erupts, flinging earth, rock and fire into the air. The ground trembles beneath your feet.

THE CRATER

As you get closer you smell burnt wood and sulfur, while dust hangs in the air making it difficult to breathe. Earth, rocks and foliage have been blasted across a wide area, leaving a deep ragged crater spanning twenty feet. The interior crackles and hisses, partially obscured by smoke illuminated by the glowing object that sits at its centre.

NOTES AND TIPS

- 30x30 Grid Map
- Remember this can be a meteor that has just crashed or maybe it's been here a while.
- The interior could be superheated from the crash. It may not be comfortable to walk on the surface and if someone falls onto the ground they could suffer burns.
- The smoke in the crater may obscure the interior. Whatever creatures have hitched a ride on the meteor could use the smoke as cover, only when they get close can they be detected.
- Star Seeds: The meteor contains seed pods that scatter on impact, the seeds germinate when they become hot, which they are now doing on the hot ground. Each seed sprouts some kind of plant/insect monster that looks for a host to attach itself to.
- Star Iron: There is a race to the meteor as it most likely contains Star Iron a precious metal that has magical properties. As the party reaches the edge of the crater a group of bandits can be seen approaching the meteor. They will fight the party for the rights to the meteor, but during the fight something within the meteor reveals itself.
- Gods Home: In the celestial heavens a war rages. A piece of a god's home or prison is blown free and hurtles to earth. However, it's not empty, an angel and devil crash to earth with it, as the party arrives the two beings continue their fight.
