

The Ex - Commission Write up

The story would feature a main character who is a married guy who just moved into a new home with his wife. The next day he is outside and meets one of his neighbours who happens to be his ex-girlfriend from high school. When they were dating in high school, she was chubby, but now she's an SSBBW. She was always dabbling with occult type things in high school as well. They broke up when they both went to separate universities. She teases him with her new body and invites him in, but he declines as he is married now. She has always missed him and thought about him. She then proposes a three-way, and he is interested but tells her that his wife would never agree to it. She says that she may be able to convince his wife anyway. The husband's wife works from home and is normal sized. The ex-girlfriend makes friends with the wife with the plans of changing her to go along with the three-way. The story progression would have the husband go to work, and each time he came home his wife would be fatter and more sexual, due to the influence of the ex-girlfriend as they become closer friends. The story would eventually conclude with the wife as an SSBBW as well, consenting to the three way and both women getting pregnant as a result. I picture the ex-girlfriend as a very teasing and tempting personality who has long held a flame for the husband. She has some sort of magical influence that causes the wife to change. I picture the wife as a very innocent and vanilla type girl who under the spell of the ex-girlfriend becoming very sexual and turns into a real piggy. The husband is an FA, who has no problems with his wife as skinny, but is very turned on watching her grow and goes along with everything as he likes both women and is unable to choose. As with the first commission, I'm a big fan of detailed descriptions of bodies and bodily changes. Bellies, asses, thighs, pussy, arms, you name it.