

Hibiscus Official Character Breakdown

Age: 22

Sex: Female

Gender: Female

Orientation: Bisexual/Male Preference

Personality	Proficiencies	Deficiencies	Likes	Dislikes
Bold and blunt Sarcastic Crude Outgoing Down to earth Territorial Persistent Stubborn Generous Flirty	Mathematics Personal Fitness Roller Skating Poker Biking	Writing Reading Public speaking Financial management Work ethic	Strawberries Warm weather Cities Plays Movies Abstract art Retro video games Camping Large animals Board games Math Comic books Candy Beer Clothing Jewlery Swimming	Cold weather Writing Cleaning Driving Cooking Trailer parks Rats Spiders Girly girls Licorish Liquor Fast Food Drug use Smoking

Family, History and Adolescence

Hibiscus Blossom grew up in a trailer park in the Ozarks, in rural Arkansas with her parent’s Florrian (Father) and Rose (Mother). Through a long line of family tradition, the Blossom family names their children off of plants that most suit the child's personality and image. Hibiscus is one of five children; she is the second youngest in the family. Florrian and Rose met young and got pregnant as teenagers at the young age of only sixteen, they gave birth to their eldest son Wormwood. It wouldn’t be for another twelve years the couple would begin having more children. Florrian and Rose have struggled to make ends meet throughout their lives and are only able to afford a meager living in a rural trailer park for low-income housing. Florrian to this day takes part time gigs, bums of neighbors and sells whatever junk he can find in dumpsters. Meanwhile his wife Rose works double shifts as a nurse at the local hospital.

Hibiscus was frequently teased by her older male siblings growing up, as a result she developed thick skin throughout her adolescent life. To deal with the teasing at home she often teased her classmates and sought the attention of older boys at school. Her behavior often got her into trouble and nearly got her expelled for starting fights, damaging school property and general misbehavior. Hibiscus lacked an at home disciplinary figure and had little teaching in regards to empathy for others. Hibiscus did form a close bond with her cousin Binweed who is the same age and was from a slightly more well to do family, she learned many positive social skills and adopted many hobbies and interests with him. Including roller skating, comic books, video games, health and fitness. Hibiscus spent a lot of time with Binweed when her mother and father could not afford to take care of her. Hibiscus would become the only of five children to graduate high school through her exceptional math test scores.

Current Life and Future Aspirations

After her eighteenth birthday, Hibiscus moved to Little Rock using money she had saved as a waitress during her youth. Hibiscus still struggles with her upbringing to this day, the lack of example set by her parents and the lawlessness in her home makes it hard for her to maintain a steady job and manage her finances. Her flirtatiousness with boys throughout her early years makes it difficult for her to form committed relationships. Hibiscus supports herself using money from many different potential love interests, part time jobs and get rich quick schemes. She has formed many friends through her part time jobs and through roller skating. Her future aspirations include financial independence and travel. Hibiscus continues to grow and learn from each new experience she has.