

This is what the new bows look like. There are no physical changes when the simple electricity and magic is added.

This is what the insulating ring looks like. The thin band is glass

Here is the class ring, it basically looks the same before and after

This is basically what I had in mind for woods that they test the bow at. It's nothing special but Ema did have to go offroading a bit to get to it.

The final product (after Thor's sparks) looks like a combination of a nordic bow Auriel's bow from Skyrim and with aspects of the original compound bow.